SECTION ONE

Welcome

Welcome to Marlow & Sage. Everything in this handbook exists to support one idea: she comes first, every time. Start with who we are and what we believe — the rest of the handbook builds from there.

A WELCOME FROM NAOMI

Welcome to Marlow & Sage. I'm glad you're here.

I opened this boutique because I wanted this town to have a place where getting dressed feels like being cared for, not sold to — where a woman is known by name and leaves feeling more like herself, not less. My mother, Grace, keeps the books and keeps me honest, and together we're proud of the small, steady team we've built around that idea.

Who we are and what we believe is in the pages that follow. If you take one thing from this handbook, take this: she comes first, every time, and everything else follows from it.

With gratitude,

Naomi Reyes

Owner, Marlow & Sage Boutique

OUR STORY

Marlow & Sage belongs to the Larkspur Collective, a family of forty-five independently owned boutiques that trace back to a single shop Josephine Larkspur opened in Millbrook, Vermont, in 2003. Josephine's idea was simple: a woman shouldn't have to choose between a boutique that knows her by name and one with a selection worth traveling for. Larkspur boutiques buy together, which is how a shop our size can carry labels a store like ours could never reach alone, and each one is still owned and run independently, by someone who lives in the community it serves. The shared standard across every Larkspur boutique is what the Collective calls Remembered, Not Rushed: attention warm and unhurried enough that a woman notices, and tells a friend.

Marlow & Sage opened in Cedar Hollow in 2019, in the Aspen Grove Commons development. We carry that story forward here, but we are, first and always, a shop that belongs to this town and to the women who walk through our door.

MISSION

At Marlow & Sage, a woman feels the difference before she's tried anything on. Someone is glad she's here and wants to know her, not just sell to her. We carry pieces worth feeling — in the hand, on the body, and in the confidence of knowing it's right before she leaves. That's what shopping is supposed to feel like.

VISION

To be the boutique this town trusts — not only for what's on the floor, but for how a woman feels every time she walks in. Great style doesn't change who someone is; it helps her feel more like herself. Known by name. Styled with intention. Leaving with something unmistakably hers.

CORE VALUES

- She comes first, every time. We start with the woman in front of us, not the sale.

- Warm because we mean it. Nothing here is a performance. We're glad she's here, and it shows.
- Chosen, not just located. This boutique exists because of Cedar Hollow. We show up for this town because it's why we're here.
- Ask before we assume. Where is she headed? What does she need to feel like herself today? We ask, because guessing isn't service.
- Nothing on the floor we wouldn't wear. Every piece earns its place. If we wouldn't wear it, we won't sell it.

OUR BRAND PROMISE

Every woman who walks through our door can count on three things, every time: to be genuinely welcomed, to be truly listened to, and to leave with something she loves and feels certain about. That promise belongs to all of us, not just the person who happens to be on the floor.

HOW WE SERVE

Marlow & Sage is built to feel like a friend's front porch — comfortable, unhurried, worth lingering on. From the moment she steps in, she should feel invited to stay a while, and that feeling is created by you. In practice:

- Greet every client like you meant it — warm, present, never hovering.
- Read the room. Some women want to browse quietly; some want a partner in the fitting room. Notice which, and give her that.
- Remember her — her name, what she loved last time, the event she mentioned in passing.
- Tell the truth, kindly. If something isn't right for her, say so. Trust outlasts any single sale.

The detailed sales process lives in Section 7. The spirit of it is simple: take real care of her, and everything else follows.

OUR CULTURE

We're a small team in a small space, which means culture isn't a value on a poster — it's how we treat each other, hour by hour.

- We're a team, not a task list. Whoever's closest and able greets the client, tidies the floor, or answers the phone.
- We're generous with each other. We cover shifts, we hand off a client gracefully when someone else is the better fit, and because we're paid hourly, never on commission, a good day for the store is a good day for all of us.
- We hold a high bar, warmly. Excellence and kindness aren't in tension here.
- We assume the best — of our clients and of each other.

SECTION TWO

Employment Information

This section covers the terms of your employment with Marlow & Sage. These policies apply to every member of the team and are written to be fair, clear, and consistent with Colorado law.

2.1 EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY

Marlow & Sage is an equal opportunity employer. Every employment decision — hiring, scheduling, pay, training, advancement, and discipline — is based on merit, ability, and the needs of the boutique. We do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex (including pregnancy, childbirth, and related conditions), sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, age (40 or older), disability, genetic information, military or veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by federal, Colorado, or local law.

If you ever believe this commitment isn't being honored, bring it to the manager or to Naomi directly. Concerns raised in good faith are taken seriously, addressed promptly, and never held against you.

Reasonable accommodations are available for qualified individuals with disabilities and for sincerely held religious practices, unless doing so would create an undue hardship for the boutique. If you need an accommodation, talk with the manager.

2.2 AT-WILL EMPLOYMENT

Employment with Marlow & Sage is at-will. Either you or the boutique may end the relationship at any time, for any lawful reason, with or without cause and with or without advance notice. Nothing in this handbook, and nothing said to you during hiring or employment, creates a contract of employment or a promise of employment for any specific length of time.

Only Naomi has the authority to change the at-will nature of employment, and only in a written agreement she signs.

2.3 EMPLOYMENT CLASSIFICATIONS

Every team member is classified by status and by pay treatment under the law.

By status:

- Full-time — regularly scheduled 32 or more hours a week.
- Part-time — regularly scheduled fewer than 32 hours a week.
- Seasonal or temporary — hired for a defined period, generally not eligible for benefits reserved for ongoing staff unless required by law.

By pay treatment:

- All hourly retail team members are non-exempt under the Fair Labor Standards Act — paid for every hour worked, and eligible for overtime as described in Section 4.

Your classification is confirmed in writing at hire and updated if your role or hours change.

2.4 INTRODUCTORY PERIOD AND TRAINING

Your first 60 days is an introductory period — a window for you to learn the boutique and complete training, and for us to see how you work with clients and the team.

Every new team member completes our onboarding program: 72 hours total, 14 hours of classroom-style instruction and 58 hours of on-the-job training, alongside hands-on time on the floor. Completing the introductory period doesn't change your at-will status or automatically trigger a raise or benefit.

2.5 PERSONNEL RECORDS

We keep a personnel file for each team member. Please tell the manager promptly about any change to your legal name, address, phone number, emergency contact, or direct deposit details. Personnel records are confidential and shared only with people who have a legitimate business or legal reason to see them.

2.6 EMPLOYMENT ELIGIBILITY

Federal law requires every employee to establish identity and legal authorization to work in the United States. On or before your first day, you must complete Form I-9 and provide acceptable documentation. Employment is contingent on meeting this requirement.

2.7 BACKGROUND CHECKS

Employment may be contingent on a satisfactory background check where the boutique determines one is appropriate for the role, conducted under the Fair Credit Reporting Act and applicable Colorado law, with your written authorization obtained beforehand.

SECTION THREE

Scheduling & Attendance

A small shop runs on trust. With a team of four to six people, every shift depends on each of us being where we said we'd be, ready to give a client our full attention.

STORE HOURS

We're open Tuesday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., and closed Sunday and Monday. Because our week is built around Fridays and Saturdays, and the busy stretch before every holiday, weekend availability is expected of every team member.

Doors open to clients at 10 a.m. sharp, with the boutique fully ready before then. Scheduled shifts include time before opening and after closing for setup and reset.

HOW THE SCHEDULE WORKS

The manager builds the schedule and posts it through ShiftNest, which we also use for time-off requests and timekeeping.

- Schedules are posted at least ten days in advance — we aim for three full weeks whenever we can.
- Once posted, the schedule is the plan we all commit to. Request a specific day off in ShiftNest early, before the schedule is built, not after.
- Time-off requests are approved based on coverage and the needs of the boutique. No time off is guaranteed until the manager confirms it.

AVAILABILITY EXPECTATIONS

When you join the team, we'll ask for your general availability. Keep it accurate and current — if it changes, tell the manager right away. We ask every team member to be realistically available for weekend shifts and for the busier periods around holidays and major store events.

HOLIDAYS

The boutique is closed on New Year's Day, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day, and Christmas Day. Time off during the weeks leading into major holidays is limited and approved early. Holiday pay practices are covered in the Compensation section.

TIMEKEEPING

Every hour you work is recorded accurately — it's how we make sure you're paid correctly.

- Clock in and out for every shift using ShiftNest.
- Never clock in or out for another person, and never ask someone to do it for you.
- If you forget a punch, or one looks wrong, tell the manager the same day so it can be corrected before payroll.

Falsifying time records is a serious matter, addressed under Workplace Conduct and the corrective action process.

ATTENDANCE EXPECTATIONS

We expect every team member to be present, on time, and ready to work each scheduled shift — clocked in, phone stowed, dressed to standard, and ready to greet the first client with genuine warmth. Because we're a small team, one unexpected absence is felt immediately.

TARDINESS

Arrive with enough margin to be on the floor and ready at the start of your shift. If you're running late, call the manager as soon as you know. Ongoing tardiness is addressed through the corrective action process.

CALLING IN SICK

If you're unwell, we'd always rather you rest and recover than push through on the floor.

- Notify the manager as early as you can, before your scheduled shift.
- Reach out with a live phone call so we know it was received.
- For an absence of several consecutive days, we may ask for a doctor's note.

Details on paid sick time and other leave are in the Benefits section (Section 5).

SHIFT SWAPS AND COVERAGE

1. Find your own coverage first. Reach out to a qualified teammate who can take the shift.
2. Then get the manager's approval. A swap isn't final until the manager confirms it.

Arrange swaps as early as you can. An unapproved swap leaves you responsible for the shift.

NO CALL / NO SHOW

Missing a scheduled shift without notifying the manager is a no call/no show, and it's the attendance issue we treat most seriously.

- A single no call/no show is addressed through the corrective action process.
- Two consecutive no call/no show days are treated as voluntary resignation.

If a genuine emergency makes it impossible to call ahead, reach out the moment you're able and we'll take the full circumstances into account.

SECTION FOUR

Compensation

How you're paid at Marlow & Sage is simple by design. We want you focused on the client in front of you, not on chasing a number.

4.1 HOURLY PAY — NO COMMISSION

Every team member is paid an hourly wage. We don't pay commission, and we don't run a bonus or sales-quota structure. This is deliberate: when no one on the floor is working for a percentage, the advice a client gets is honest, and no teammate is ever competing with another for a sale. It's how we live she comes first, every time.

Your hourly rate is set at hire and communicated to you individually. We keep pay private on our end; you're always free to discuss your own pay if you choose.

4.2 PAY PERIODS AND PAYDAYS

Team members are paid on a biweekly schedule, with each pay period ending on Sunday. Payday falls on the following Friday. When a payday lands on a holiday, pay is issued the business day before.

4.3 DIRECT DEPOSIT

Pay is delivered by direct deposit starting with your first paycheck. Enter your banking information in ShiftNest before your first shift and keep it current — outdated account information is the one thing that can hold up your pay.

4.4 TIME CLOCK PROCEDURES

Because all team members are non-exempt, we keep an accurate record of every hour worked.

- Clock in when you begin work and out when you finish, using ShiftNest.
- Clock out and back in for any unpaid meal period.
- Never clock in or out for anyone else.
- You may not perform work off the clock. If you worked, you get paid for it.
- If you forget a punch or notice an error, tell the manager the same day.

4.5 OVERTIME

Non-exempt team members are eligible for overtime under federal and Colorado law — one and one-half times your regular rate for hours worked over 40 in a workweek, or over 12 in a single day, whichever is greater under Colorado law. Overtime requires the manager's advance approval, typically during holidays, events, and sale periods, rather than something to plan around week to week. Overtime worked without prior approval is always paid as the law requires, but may be addressed as a scheduling matter.

4.6 MEAL AND REST PERIODS

Colorado law requires meal and rest breaks, and we build the schedule around them.

- Shifts of 5 or more hours include one unpaid 30-minute meal period, taken off the sales floor and clocked out.

- Every 4 hours worked (or major fraction of it) includes one paid 10-minute rest break.
- A shift of 8 hours typically includes one unpaid meal period and two paid rest breaks.

Coordinate break timing with whoever is leading the floor so someone is always available to greet clients.

4.7 PAYROLL CORRECTIONS

If you believe there's an error in your pay, report it to the manager as soon as you notice it. We'll review it promptly and correct any confirmed error without delay. Only deductions required or permitted by law, or that you've authorized in writing, are made from your pay.

4.8 PERFORMANCE REVIEWS, RAISES, AND ADVANCEMENT

You'll get feedback regularly and informally, as often as it's useful. In addition, every four months we sit down for a fuller conversation about how you're growing in your role. These conversations connect to the expectations described throughout this handbook.

Pay increases are considered based on your performance, your growth, and the needs of the boutique. A review doesn't automatically result in a raise. Any change to your pay is at Naomi's discretion and confirmed in writing.

SECTION FIVE

Benefits

Some benefits depend on your classification and length of service. The boutique may add to, change, or discontinue any benefit that isn't required by law, with notice to the team.

5.1 EMPLOYEE DISCOUNT

Team members receive a 25% discount on merchandise.

- The discount applies to merchandise that's been on the floor for at least 10 days.
- New arrivals are sold to team members at full price until they've been on the floor for 10 days — new pieces belong to our clients first.
- The discount is for your personal use and your immediate household's use. It may not be used to buy for anyone outside your household, for resale, or on behalf of anyone else. There's no monthly or annual cap.
- Employee purchases are rung up with a manager present, never by you alone (see Section 16).
- Discounted purchases go through Ledgerly like any other sale. The discount can't be combined with promotional pricing or markdowns unless Naomi approves.

Misuse of the discount may lead to loss of the privilege or corrective action.

5.2 HOLIDAYS AND HOLIDAY PAY

The boutique is closed on New Year's Day, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day, and Christmas Day. Because the boutique is closed, those hours are unpaid — holiday pay isn't offered at this time.

5.3 PAID TIME OFF

Full-time team members earn paid time off in a single combined bank that covers vacation and sick time (see Section 5.4). PTO accrues at 3.5 hours per biweekly pay period — roughly 91 hours, or just over 11 days, per year. Unused PTO doesn't carry over from year to year, and any accrued, unused balance is paid out when your employment ends. Requests are submitted through ShiftNest as far in advance as possible and approved based on coverage.

5.4 SICK LEAVE

Colorado's Healthy Families and Workplaces Act requires paid sick leave for every employee. Our combined PTO bank in Section 5.3 meets or exceeds what the law requires, so sick time draws from that same bank rather than a separate pool. Regardless of pay, if you're unwell — especially with anything contagious — please don't come in. Notify the manager as early as possible.

5.5 JURY DUTY

Colorado law protects your right to serve on a jury and requires that you be paid your regular wages for up to three days of jury service. Please give the manager a copy of your summons as soon as you receive it.

5.6 MILITARY LEAVE

Team members who serve in the uniformed services are entitled to leave and reemployment rights under USERRA and applicable Colorado law. If you're called to serve, notify the manager as early as you're able. Pay and any family support during military leave are worked out case by case with Naomi.

5.7 BEREAVEMENT LEAVE

If you lose a family member, speak with the manager and we'll work with you on time away. Full-time team members receive three days of paid bereavement leave.

5.8 OTHER LEAVE

Any leave not addressed here is handled in accordance with applicable federal and Colorado law.

5.9 HEALTH AND RETIREMENT BENEFITS

Health insurance isn't offered at this time. A retirement savings plan is currently being developed; details will be shared once it's finalized. Where a benefit is offered, the official plan documents govern its terms.

5.10 TIME OFF TO VOTE

Colorado law entitles you to up to two hours of paid leave to vote if you don't otherwise have sufficient time outside of work hours while polls are open. Let the manager know in advance and we'll arrange the time. You won't be penalized for taking it.

5.11 NURSING MOTHERS

We support team members who are nursing. If you need to nurse or pump during the workday, we'll provide reasonable break time and a private space that isn't a restroom, consistent with applicable law. Talk with the manager and we'll make the arrangements discreetly and comfortably.

SECTION SIX

Dress Code & Appearance

How you present yourself is part of how a client experiences this boutique. Before she's touched a single piece, she's read the room — and you are the room.

THE STANDARD: REFLECT THE MARLOW & SAGE AESTHETIC

Dress the way the boutique feels — polished, current, and quietly put together. A good test: if a client assumed you were the owner or the buyer, your outfit did its job.

You're not required to wear Marlow & Sage merchandise. Your own wardrobe is welcome, as long as it holds the same standard as the floor around you. That said, wearing pieces from the boutique is one of the most natural ways to show a client how something really feels to wear.

What this looks like in practice:

- Clothing that's clean, pressed, and in excellent condition — no fading, pilling, fraying, or visible wear.
- A pulled-together silhouette: elevated separates, dresses, tailored denim in good condition.
- Fit that's comfortable for a full day of standing, steaming, styling, and reaching.

What falls short of the standard:

- Athletic or loungewear: leggings worn as pants, sweatpants, gym shorts, hoodies, workout gear.
- Anything overly revealing, sheer without proper layering, or distracting on the floor.
- Graphic tees with slogans or logos, flip-flops, worn-out sneakers, beachwear.
- Clothing that's torn, wrinkled, or too casual for a client who came in expecting to be taken seriously.

If you're ever unsure whether a piece meets the standard, ask before you wear it.

SHOES

Footwear should be polished and considered, and comfortable enough for a full day on your feet. Closed-toe or refined open-toe styles, flats, loafers, boots, dressy sandals, or a comfortable heel are all welcome. No flip-flops, athletic sneakers, or slides. Keep shoes clean and in good repair.

GROOMING & PERSONAL HYGIENE

Arrive each shift clean, neat, and put together.

- Fragrance in moderation. Many clients are sensitive to it, and the boutique should smell fresh and clean, never heavy with fragrance. When in doubt, wear less.
- Makeup, when worn, should be natural and professional — a personal choice, not a requirement.

JEWELRY & ACCESSORIES

Accessories are an easy way to show clients how a piece can be styled, so they're encouraged — worn with a sense of proportion. Keep them tasteful, and make sure nothing gets in the way of hands-on work with merchandise.

TATTOOS & PIERCINGS

Visible tattoos and piercings are welcome, as long as your overall presentation stays polished and consistent with the boutique's aesthetic.

NAME TAGS

We wear simple name tags on the floor — it's a small thing that helps a client feel like she knows who she's talking to, especially on her first visit.

SEASONAL DRESS

Let your wardrobe move with the seasons the way the floor does — breathable, elevated pieces in warmer months, considered layers in cooler ones. Dressing in step with the season is also a natural way to show a client what's new and worth feeling right now.

SECTION SEVEN

Client Experience Standards

Everything in this handbook exists to serve one thing: the way a woman feels while she's here, and after she leaves. This is the part of the job that matters most.

7.1 WHAT “THE EXPERIENCE” MEANS HERE

We're not here to move product. We're here to take care of people. A client should feel, from the moment she walks in, that someone is genuinely glad she came and wants to know her — not sell to her. That feeling is the whole business. When we get it right, the sale takes care of itself.

7.2 THE GREETING

The first ten seconds set the tone for everything that follows.

- Acknowledge every person who walks in, immediately — with warmth, a smile, and eye contact.
- Even if you're with another client, catch her eye and let her know you'll be right with her.
- Greet, don't pounce. No hovering, no rehearsed opener. Welcome her, give her room to land, and stay available.
- Use her name the moment you know it, and again when she leaves. For a returning client, greet her by name before she has to introduce herself.

7.3 STYLING PHILOSOPHY

We style women. We don't simply sell them clothes.

- Start with her, not the rack. Before you pull a single piece, understand who she is and what this visit is for.
- Style toward how she wants to feel, not toward a trend.
- Be honest. If a piece isn't right — the fit, the color, the occasion — say so, kindly.
- Stand behind what we carry. If we wouldn't wear it, we won't sell it.

7.4 FITTING-ROOM SERVICE

The fitting room is where trust is won or lost. It should feel like the best part of the visit.

- Prepare the room before she goes in: pieces hung, sizes right, space tidy.
- Stay attentive without hovering. Offer the next size or a different option before she has to ask.
- Bring the complete look to her — the shoe, the layer, the accessory — so she can see the full picture. This is service, not a sales tactic (see Section 8.3).
- Be genuinely encouraging and genuinely honest. Both.

7.5 HOSPITALITY STANDARDS

The boutique is meant to feel like a friend's front porch — cozy, personal, and welcoming. Small touches carry it:

- Offer a beverage where appropriate — water, sparkling water, coffee, or tea day to day, with something a little special for appointments and events.

- Keep the floor, the fitting rooms, and the counter tidy and calm at all times.
- Carry her bags to the door, walk her out, thank her by name, and invite her back.

7.6 PHONE, EMAIL, AND TEXT ETIQUETTE

We speak to clients on every channel the way we would in person: warm, polished, unhurried.

- The store phone is answered promptly and warmly, every time, with the same words: “Thank you for calling Marlow & Sage, how may I help you?” It’s the only phone permitted on the sales floor; personal phones stay off the floor except in an emergency (see the Cell Phone policy in Section 11).
- A client on the phone deserves the same care as a client in front of you — never rushed off.
- Email, text, and social messages to clients go out only through our approved accounts and systems. Don’t conduct boutique business or contact clients from a personal phone number or account.
- Keep it professional — friendly and human, never sloppy. Proofread.

7.7 CLIENT PRIVACY

What a client shares with us — her name, contact information, sizes, purchases, anything personal — is held in confidence. We use it to serve her, and for nothing else.

- Never share a client’s information, purchases, or personal details with anyone outside the boutique.
- Never use client contact information for personal purposes.

All client data belongs to Marlow & Sage. The full policy is in Section 11, Confidential Information.

7.8 THE STANDARD, IN ONE LINE

Every client leaves feeling known by name, styled with intention, and certain about what she’s carrying out the door. If a visit didn’t reach that bar, we look at what we could have done better.

SECTION EIGHT

Sales Expectations

Let's be clear about what this section is and isn't. We're an hourly team. There's no commission. Sales expectations here means the habits of service that naturally lead to a healthy boutique — not a quota.

8.1 WHAT WE MEASURE: SERVICE, NOT PRESSURE

We hold ourselves to how well we take care of people, not to a number on a screen. A strong day looks like:

- Every client greeted, seen, and genuinely helped.
- Women leaving with pieces that are right for them — not pieces they were pushed into.
- Relationships remembered and continued, so the next visit is even better than this one.

Do those things well and the business follows. That's the whole philosophy.

8.2 REALISTIC GOALS AND EXPECTATIONS

Because there's no commission, our goals are shared, not individual scorecards:

- Take excellent care of everyone in front of you. No client is too small; no browse is a waste of time.
- Contribute to the boutique's success as a team. We win together — cover the floor for each other and never compete over who “gets” a client.
- Grow your client relationships over time. The truest measure of a great associate is a book of women who come back and ask for you.

We share one monthly store-level target with the team, and never an individual one — just enough to keep everyone connected to how the boutique is doing as a whole.

8.3 WARDROBE STYLING AND ADD-ONS — AS SERVICE, NEVER PRESSURE

Showing a client the complete look — the shoe with the dress, the jacket that finishes it — is one of the most valuable things we do. Done right, it's a gift: she sees possibilities she'd have missed and leaves more confident. Done wrong, it's pushy, and we don't do pushy.

- Service starts with what's right for her and shows her the full picture.
- Pressure starts with selling more and ignores whether it suits her.

We only ever do the first. If something isn't right for her, we say so — even when it means she buys less today. Every piece earns its place.

SECTION NINE

Boutique Operations

The way we open, close, and care for the boutique every day is what makes the experience on the floor feel effortless. Step-by-step checklists live in the Operations Manual, kept separately so day-to-day practice can evolve without reissuing this handbook.

9.1 OPENING AND CLOSING THE BOUTIQUE

We're open Tuesday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., closed Sunday and Monday. The boutique should be fully ready — lights up, music on, floor set, register open — before 10 a.m., not at 10 a.m. Closing is never rushed; we reset the space for the next morning.

- Opening means the boutique is presentable and fully operational before the doors open.
- Closing means the day is reconciled and the space is reset, secured, and alarmed.
- Two people always open together, and two people always close together — no one opens or closes alone.
- We don't open late or close early without the manager's approval. Someone who walks in at 5:55 receives the same welcome as someone at 10:05.

The full opening and closing checklists are a separate document — a printed copy at the register, one in the back office, and a digital copy in ShiftNest.

9.2 CASH HANDLING

We handle money carefully and without drama. Every dollar is accounted for.

- The register begins each day with a $150 opening till, verified by the person opening.
- Cash is counted at open and close. Any difference is documented and reported to the manager the same day. The problem is never a mistake reported; it's one hidden.
- Large bills and excess cash are moved out of the drawer and secured per the Operations Manual.
- Only assigned team members handle the drawer during a shift (see Section 10.5).
- Personal money never goes into or comes out of the register.

9.3 POINT OF SALE — LEDGERLY

Our point-of-sale system is Ledgerly. Every sale, return, exchange, discount, and hold is entered into it.

- Every team member on the floor is trained on Ledgerly before working a shift alone. If you're unsure how to ring something, ask before you complete the sale.
- Enter each transaction accurately and completely.
- Never share your login. Transactions are tied to the person signed in, which protects you as much as the boutique.
- Voids, price overrides, and manual discounts follow the approval rules in Section 9.8.

9.4 RETURNS AND EXCHANGES

A return handled with the same warmth as a sale is one of the strongest reasons a woman comes back to us. Make her feel taken care of, then quietly make sure the transaction is done correctly. Our policy:

- Because she was able to touch, feel, and try on for fit and size, clothing and shoes may be exchanged or returned for store credit within ten (10) business days of purchase with the original receipt. No cash, check, or credit card refunds are given.
- All items must have been purchased from Marlow & Sage, unworn, with price tags intact. Handbags, jewelry, intimates, accessories, special orders, and SALE items are final sale and cannot be exchanged or returned for credit.
- All returns and exchanges are processed through Ledgerly against the original sale where possible.

We honor the policy consistently and kindly. If a situation falls outside it, we don't argue on the floor — we involve the manager.

9.5 GIFT CARDS

Gift cards are sold and redeemed through Ledgerly.

- Treat a gift card like cash: it's a real balance someone paid for.
- Sell, load, and redeem only through Ledgerly so every balance is tracked.
- We don't give cash back for a gift-card balance, unless required by law.

9.6 SPECIAL ORDERS AND HOLDS

Both are ways we say yes to a client — and both only work if they're logged, not remembered.

- Special orders are recorded with her name, contact information, the exact item, and any deposit taken. We follow up when it arrives.
- Holds are logged with the client's name, the item, and a clear hold-through date. Standard hold time is 48 hours; holds aren't extended over a weekend without Naomi's approval.
- Held merchandise is kept in the designated hold area, tagged and off the active floor.

9.7 SHIPPING, RECEIVING, AND RESTOCKING

New arrivals are one of the best parts of the job — and they're only exciting to a client if they reach the floor quickly, priced and presentation-ready.

- Receiving: Deliveries are checked against the packing list, inspected for damage, and entered into Ledgerly before anything reaches the floor. Discrepancies are reported to the manager the same day.
- Restocking: The floor stays full and shopped-looking throughout the day.
- Shipping to clients: When we send a piece, it's packaged to the boutique's presentation standard and tracked.

New arrivals are sold at full price; the employee discount applies only after a piece has been on the floor 10 days. We take a full inventory twice a year, once for fall/winter and once for spring/summer, and everyone on the team is part of it.

9.8 DISCOUNTS, PROMOTIONS, AND APPROVALS

Approved, posted promotions and the employee discount are applied as written. Anything beyond that — a courtesy discount, a price adjustment, an exception — requires manager approval before it's given. We don't negotiate prices on the floor, and every discount is entered in Ledgerly with the correct reason code.

9.9 MERCHANDISING AND VISUAL STANDARDS

The floor should always look intentional — like a well-appointed room where every piece has been placed with care.

- The floor is faced, sized, and steamed. Wrinkled or poorly hung merchandise comes off the floor until it's right.
- Displays, mannequins, and windows are refreshed as new arrivals land and seasons turn. Windows change at least every two weeks, more often when something new deserves the attention.
- Signage is current, clean, and correct.
- If you walk past something out of place, you fix it. Presentation isn't one person's job.

9.10 DAILY CLEANING AND UPKEEP

A polished experience and a less-than-immaculate space can't coexist. Cleanliness is a standard we hold all day, not a closing task.

- Fitting rooms are reset after every client.
- Glass, mirrors, counters, and the register area stay clean throughout the day.
- If you see it, you handle it — we don't wait for a cleaning shift.

SECTION TEN

Loss Prevention

Everything on our floor was carefully chosen. Protecting it is part of everyone's job, and it's possible to do without ever making a client feel watched. Attentive, warm service is our best protection.

10.1 LOSS PREVENTION THROUGH SERVICE

The single most effective tool we have is genuine, present hospitality. A well-tended floor where every woman is greeted and checked on is a floor where very little goes missing.

- Greet everyone who enters. Acknowledgment is warm — and it's also awareness.
- Keep the floor covered and organized. When the floor is precise, a gap is obvious quickly.
- Stay aware without becoming suspicious. We extend the same warmth to everyone.

10.2 SHOPLIFTING

If you suspect theft, your safety and composure come first. We never risk a person over merchandise.

- Do not physically confront, chase, accuse, or attempt to detain anyone.
- Increase attentive service instead — offer help, stay close.
- Note what you can safely observe and alert the manager.

The manager handles any reporting to law enforcement.

10.3 INTERNAL THEFT

Internal theft — of merchandise, cash, gift cards, or time — is grounds for immediate termination and, where warranted, prosecution (see Corrective Action & Separation). This includes unrung merchandise, unauthorized discounts, taking cash from the drawer, and manipulating returns or voids. If you see something that concerns you, tell the manager or Naomi. Raising a concern in good faith is always protected.

10.4 DAMAGED MERCHANDISE

Damaged or defective pieces come off the floor promptly.

- Pull the piece, tag it as damaged, and log it per the Operations Manual.
- Damaged merchandise is never quietly taken home, worn, or sold outside the posted damage-purchase policy.

The manager handles vendor claims, markdowns, or write-offs.

10.5 CASH DRAWER ACCOUNTABILITY

Clear ownership of the drawer protects the person on it.

- We run one cash drawer, counted at the start of the day and closed out at the end of it by the person responsible for it that shift.
- Overages and shortages are documented every time and reviewed by the manager. An occasional honest error, reported, is simply part of handling money.
- No cash leaves the drawer except as a logged sale, an approved return, or a documented drop.

10.6 SECURITY CAMERAS

We'd rather you hear this plainly from us than notice it and wonder.

- The boutique uses security cameras. Footage is recorded, and Naomi is the person who reviews it.
- The cameras cover the sales floor and the stockroom.
- There are no cameras in the fitting rooms or the restroom, and there never will be.

SECTION ELEVEN

Technology & Communication

The tools we use exist to make the client experience better. Handle them the way you'd want someone to handle your own information: carefully, honestly, and with discretion.

LEDGERLY (POINT OF SALE)

Ledgerly is our point-of-sale system, where sales, returns, and client records come together.

- Ring every sale and process every return through Ledgerly. No side arrangements.
- Use your own login and never share it. Every transaction should be traceable to the person who handled it.
- Enter client information carefully when a client is open to it, so the next associate can pick up where you left off.

CLIENTKEEP (CLIENT RECORDS)

ClientKeep is our client-records system, where we keep sizes, preferences, and past purchases so we can serve each woman well over time.

- Record the kind of detail that helps you serve her better next time. Keep notes professional and respectful — write nothing you wouldn't want her to read.
- Client contact information and purchase history are confidential and belong to the boutique. They're never copied, exported, screenshotted, or used for anything outside your work here.
- Only send client communication through approved, authorized channels — never from personal accounts.

TEXTING AND CALLING A CLIENT

The boutique has two phones: a landline and a store cell phone. Client texts go out from the store cell phone, which is also the phone used for social content — never from your own.

When a text covers something that matters — a hold, a size she's waiting on, a preference she mentions — put the substance of it in her ClientKeep record afterward. The phone is how we reach her; ClientKeep is where her story is kept.

Text the way you'd speak to her on the floor: warm, brief, never pushy, and never late at night. Client numbers stay in the boutique's systems and are never saved to a personal phone.

COMPANY EMAIL & STORE COMMUNICATION

Every team member is given an individual boutique email address, hosted on Microsoft 365, in the form firstname@marlowandsage.com. It's provided for professional communication only, belongs to the boutique, and is deactivated when employment ends. Day-to-day team updates flow through our approved store communication channels rather than personal texts, so nothing important gets lost.

SCHEDULING

Schedules and time-off requests are managed through ShiftNest. You're responsible for knowing your shifts and requesting time off through it. Weekend availability is expected. Details are in Section 3.

CELL PHONES & PERSONAL DEVICES

Nothing undercuts she comes first, every time faster than an associate glancing at a phone while a client waits.

- Personal phones stay off the sales floor. Keep yours in the back, on silent, during your shift.
- Only the store phone is permitted on the floor.
- Emergencies are the exception. If you're expecting an urgent call, let the manager know at the start of your shift and step off the floor to take it.
- Personal calls, texting, and scrolling are for breaks, taken in the back.

INTERNET & STORE DEVICES

Store computers, tablets, and the boutique's internet are for work — Ledgerly, approved email, product research, and authorized social posting. Don't use them for personal shopping, streaming, or anything you wouldn't do in front of Naomi. Keep your logins private, and lock or log out of any device before you step away.

CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION

Working here means being trusted with things that don't leave the building — client records and contact details, vendor and pricing arrangements, marketing plans, and anything the boutique designates as proprietary. Keep it confidential during your employment and after it ends. When in doubt, treat it as confidential and ask. You'll also sign a separate confidentiality agreement during orientation.

SECTION TWELVE

Social Media Policy

Social media is how many women meet Marlow & Sage before they ever walk in. What we post should feel like the boutique itself — warm, current, personal.

WHO POSTS FOR THE BOUTIQUE

Only authorized team members may post to or on behalf of the boutique, using approved accounts and devices. Our official presence lives at @marlowandsageboutique across Instagram, Facebook, and TikTok. If you'd love to be part of our content — and we hope you would — talk to Naomi or the manager.

POSTING ON YOUR OWN ACCOUNTS

We'd love for you to. If you're proud of where you work, say so — post the boutique on your own accounts and tag @marlowandsageboutique. Three things we ask:

- Keep it positive. You're one of the faces of this place.
- No client in the frame, ever, including in the background.
- No pricing, promotions, or discounts unless Naomi or the manager has approved them.

REPRESENTING THE BOUTIQUE

Whether or not you're an authorized poster, clients will see you as part of Marlow & Sage.

- Speak about the boutique, our clients, our team, and our brands with the same warmth in public that you bring to the floor.
- Never post anything negative or identifying about a client, a coworker, a vendor, or the boutique's business.
- Direct any media inquiries or reporter questions to Naomi.

PHOTOGRAPHY & CLIENT PRIVACY

Photos taken inside the boutique for posting should look the part — tidy floor, beautiful styling, good light.

- Never photograph or film a client without her clear permission, and don't capture other clients in the background.
- Never post, name, tag, or reference a client — or her purchase — without her explicit permission, and never share anything from ClientKeep.

POSTING MERCHANDISE

New arrivals and beautifully styled pieces are wonderful to feature. Keep captions in our voice: warm, personal, never pushy.

- Follow any brand guidance on how designer names and images may be used.
- Don't post pricing, promotions, or discounts unless Naomi or the manager has approved them.

INFLUENCER & BRAND COLLABORATIONS

Influencer partnerships, giveaways, and collaborations can be great for the boutique — and can go sideways fast. All collaborations must be approved by Naomi in advance. If someone approaches you or the store accounts with an opportunity, pass it along to Naomi rather than responding yourself.

SECTION THIRTEEN

Workplace Conduct

How we treat each other behind the scenes shows up in how we treat clients on the floor. A calm, respectful, genuinely kind team is the foundation of the experience we've built this shop around.

PROFESSIONAL BEHAVIOR

We hold ourselves to a simple standard: carry yourself the way you'd want a client to remember you.

- Speak to teammates and clients with courtesy and warmth, even under pressure.
- Be honest and dependable — do what you said you'd do, and own it when you fall short.
- Keep personal stress from spilling onto the floor.
- Treat the boutique, the merchandise, and each other's time with care.

A RESPECTFUL WORKPLACE

Everyone on this team deserves to work in an environment where they feel respected, safe, and valued. Differences in background, experience, and perspective make us better at serving a wide range of women, and we don't tolerate conduct that makes anyone feel diminished, excluded, or unwelcome. If something's off between teammates, take it to that person directly or to the manager — never into side conversations or onto the floor.

ANTI-HARASSMENT POLICY

Marlow & Sage does not tolerate harassment of any kind — by or toward any team member, client, vendor, or visitor.

Harassment is unwelcome conduct based on race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, age, disability, genetic information, veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. It includes sexual harassment — unwelcome advances, requests for favors, and other verbal, visual, or physical conduct of a sexual nature — as well as slurs, intimidation, unwanted touching, and offensive images or messages. This applies in the boutique, at events, online, and anywhere our team represents Marlow & Sage.

If you experience or witness harassment:

- Report it promptly to the manager, or directly to Naomi if the concern involves the manager. If the concern involves Naomi herself, the alternate contact is Grace, our co-owner.
- You don't have to be the target to report it.
- Every report is taken seriously, looked into promptly, and kept as private as the situation allows.

You may also raise a concern outside the boutique at any time — with the Colorado Civil Rights Division or the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC). An internal report is welcomed but never required. We will not tolerate retaliation against anyone who raises a concern in good faith; retaliation is itself a violation of this policy.

VIOLENCE PREVENTION

The boutique is a place of safety, and we keep it that way: no threats, intimidation, or violence, ever.

- Weapons are not permitted in the boutique except as expressly allowed by law and store policy.

- Threatening language, aggressive behavior, and physical confrontation are grounds for immediate corrective action, up to termination.

If you ever feel unsafe, remove yourself from the situation if you can and alert the manager immediately. In an emergency, call 911 first.

YOUR PROTECTED RIGHTS

Nothing in this handbook — including the sections on confidentiality, social media, or conduct — is intended to limit your right under the National Labor Relations Act to discuss your own wages, hours, or working conditions with coworkers or others, or to report a concern to a government agency. Where any policy could be read to restrict those rights, it does not apply.

SECTION FOURTEEN

Safety and Emergency Procedures

Nothing matters more than the safety of the people in our boutique. In an emergency, protecting people always comes before protecting merchandise, the register, or the space.

14.1 EMERGENCY CONTACTS

In any life-threatening emergency, call 911 first, then notify the manager and Naomi. Our store address, for 911 and deliveries, is 480 Aspen Grove Lane, Suite 12, Cedar Hollow, CO 80512. The nearest emergency room is Cedar Hollow Regional ER, 1220 Timberline Road, Cedar Hollow, CO, (719) 555-0148. A contact list — manager, Naomi, alarm service, and property management — is posted in the back office. For a utility problem — gas, electric, or water — notify the manager and Naomi right away and they'll handle the utility companies; if anything ever feels unsafe, call 911 first. Poison Control: 1-800-222-1222.

14.2 FIRE

If you discover a fire, get everyone out first, then call 911.

- Guide clients calmly to the nearest exit; don't let anyone go back for belongings.
- There are two fire extinguishers: one at the front of the boutique and one in the back. Know where both are before you need one.
- Use a fire extinguisher only on a small, contained fire, and only if you have a clear path behind you.

Exits are at the front and back of the boutique. Once outside, everyone meets at the far end of the Aspen Grove Commons parking lot, near the community fountain, and doesn't re-enter until officials say it's safe.

14.3 MEDICAL EMERGENCIES

For anything serious — chest pain, difficulty breathing, a fall, loss of consciousness — call 911 immediately.

- Stay with the person, keep them calm, and do only what you're trained to do.
- Know where the first-aid kit is: above the employee sink in the stockroom. There is no AED on site, so 911 is the immediate call for anything cardiac.

Afterward, notify the manager and complete an incident report.

14.4 SEVERE WEATHER

Cedar Hollow sees hard winters and, some summers, wildfire smoke that affects air quality.

- In a winter storm or blizzard warning, the manager or Naomi decides on any weather-related closing or early close. No schedule outranks getting the team and clients home safely before roads turn dangerous.
- On a poor-air-quality day from nearby wildfire smoke, prop no doors open, keep the HVAC running, and let the manager know if anyone is having trouble breathing.
- Never drive through, or send anyone toward, a road that's closed or clearly unsafe.

14.5 ACTIVE-THREAT SITUATIONS

Follow the widely taught standard: Run if there's a safe path out, Hide if you can't get out, and only as an absolute last resort, Fight to protect your life.

- Get clients to safety with you when you can do so without added risk.
- Call 911 as soon as it's safe, and cooperate fully with law enforcement when they arrive.

14.6 ACCIDENT AND INCIDENT REPORTING

Every injury, accident, or safety incident — to a team member or client, however minor — is reported to the manager the same day and documented in writing. Don't admit fault or discuss a client injury outside the boutique; refer any outside inquiry to Naomi.

14.7 WORKERS' COMPENSATION

Report any work-related injury to the manager immediately and complete an incident report, no matter how minor. Colorado requires employers to carry workers' compensation insurance, and Marlow & Sage does. A work-related injury is covered under that policy, and reporting it promptly is what starts the process. Details of the coverage and the carrier are posted with the other required notices in the back office.

SECTION FIFTEEN

Corrective Action & Separation

Our strong preference is to solve problems through honest, in-the-moment coaching, long before anything formal is needed. When more is required, we want the process to be fair, clear, and free of surprises.

AT-WILL EMPLOYMENT

Employment with Marlow & Sage is at-will under Colorado law — either you or the boutique may end the relationship at any time, for any lawful reason, with or without cause and with or without notice. Nothing in this section creates a contract or a promise that any steps will be followed in a particular order. Depending on the circumstances, we may begin at any step or move directly to termination.

THE STEPS

1. Coaching. An informal, direct conversation about what needs to change. Most concerns are resolved here.
2. Verbal Warning. A clear, spoken notice of a specific expectation not being met, and what needs to change.
3. Written Warning. A documented notice describing the issue, the expected correction, and a timeframe. You'll be asked to sign it — signing acknowledges the conversation, not agreement.
4. Final Warning. Written notice that continued issues will result in termination.
5. Termination. If the concern isn't corrected, or the situation warrants it, employment ends.

IMMEDIATE-TERMINATION OFFENSES

Some conduct may result in termination without prior warnings. This list is illustrative, not exhaustive:

- Theft, dishonesty, or fraud of any kind, including mishandling cash, merchandise, or client payment information.
- Harassment, discrimination, threats, or violence toward a client or teammate.
- Being under the influence of alcohol or illegal drugs while on the floor.
- Breaching client privacy or confidentiality.
- Sharing account access or posting to our social accounts without authorization.
- Willful damage to the boutique, its merchandise, or its reputation.
- Falsifying time records or other company documents.

Because employment is at-will, this list does not limit the reasons for which employment may end.

RESIGNATION AND NOTICE

If you decide to leave, tell your manager in person and follow up in writing. As a professional courtesy, we request at least two weeks' notice so we can plan coverage and transition your clients thoughtfully. Giving notice is a courtesy, not a contractual obligation.

FINAL PAYCHECK

Colorado law governs final pay, and we follow it.

- If you're discharged, final wages are due immediately. If our payroll office isn't able to process it on the spot, it's paid within six hours of the start of the payroll office's next workday, or mailed the next business day.
- If you resign, final wages are paid on the next regularly scheduled payday.

Any accrued, unused PTO is paid out at separation, consistent with the PTO policy in Section 5.3.

RETURN OF COMPANY PROPERTY

On or before your last day, return everything that belongs to the boutique — keys and access codes, the store phone or any store-issued device, system logins (which will be deactivated), and any client information in your possession. Client relationships and client data belong to the boutique and stay with the boutique.

REHIRE ELIGIBILITY

We're glad to consider strong former team members who left in good standing and gave appropriate notice. Rehire is never automatic and is always at the boutique's discretion. There's no fixed waiting period; each situation is considered on its own.

SECTION SIXTEEN

Boutique-Specific Policies

A few policies exist simply because we work surrounded by beautiful things we love. When in doubt, ask your manager first.

EMPLOYEE PURCHASES AND DISCOUNT

Your employee discount is 25% off, once a piece has been on the floor for 10 days. New arrivals are always sold at full price — they belong to our clients first.

- The discount is for your own personal use and your immediate household's use. It may not be used to buy for anyone outside your household or to resell.
- Ring up your own purchases only with a manager present, following the process in Section 9. Never ring up your own transaction alone.
- There's no monthly or annual cap on discounted employee purchases.

HOLDING MERCHANDISE

You may place a hold for a client per the standard practice in Section 9, for a limited time — 48 hours, standard. Holding a piece for yourself is not permitted. If you'd like something, purchase it under the normal discount rules once it's eligible.

SHOPPING WHILE WORKING

The floor is for our clients. Do your own shopping and try-ons off the clock — before or after your shift or on a break, never while scheduled and on the floor.

SAMPLE SALES AND MARKDOWNS

Any sample sale, markdown event, or clearance pricing is set by Naomi or the manager. The employee discount doesn't stack on top of sale or markdown pricing unless a manager explicitly approves it. Clients shop first — staff are welcome to shop a sample sale only after it's open to clients, the same way the employee discount only applies once a piece has been on the floor for 10 days.

DAMAGED OR FLAWED MERCHANDISE

Damaged, flawed, or returned-unsellable pieces are handled through the process in the Operations Manual — they aren't automatically available for employees to buy or take. If a damaged piece is made available, it's offered at a manager-approved price and rung up with a manager present. Taking a damaged item without approval is treated as theft.

VENDOR AND CLIENT GIFTS

A small token — flowers, sweets, a thank-you note — is fine to accept graciously. Anything beyond a modest value, or any gift that could feel meant to influence what we buy or recommend, should be declined or brought to Naomi first. There's no set dollar threshold — use judgment, and when in doubt, ask.

SECTION SEVENTEEN

Brand Standards

Everything a client feels — welcomed, cared for, unhurried — depends on a space that lives up to that feeling. These standards protect the atmosphere.

Ambiance. Lighting should be warm and flattering, displays considered rather than crowded, the overall impression one of ease. Opening the boutique means the same three things every morning: lights on, music on, and the front door propped open whenever the weather allows. Before we open and throughout the day, we look at the space the way a client would and correct anything that breaks the spell.

Music. Present but never loud — something a woman would enjoy without raising her voice over it, never explicit or jarring. We stream through the boutique's in-store sound system from the store iPad.

Scent. We don't use a signature scent. The boutique should simply smell clean and pleasant — never stale, never overpowering — and comfortable for clients with sensitivities.

Beverage service. Offering a client something to drink is part of the front-porch feeling. We keep it simple day to day — water, sparkling water, coffee, and tea — and bring out something a little special for appointments and events. Whatever we offer is presented graciously, and the station stays clean and tidy.

Presentation. Presentation is the sum of countless small details — from the way a piece is folded to the way it's wrapped and handed to her at the close. When every detail is right, the client never has to think about any of them. She simply feels she's somewhere special.
